To the holders of Ordinary Shares

30 May 2008

Dear Shareholder

Cancellation of the Share Premium Account

The Company currently has £8,529,769 standing to the credit of its Share Premium Account. The Share Premium Account has arisen as a result of the issue of shares in the capital of the Company at a premium during the course of the Company's history. After careful consideration the Board has concluded that it is in the interests of the Company to cancel the Share Premium Account to create distributable reserves which will be available to the Company for all purposes for which distributable reserves could normally be used, in particular for the on market purchase of Ordinary Shares in order to return capital to Shareholders. The Board believes that the Company should place itself in a position to buyback Ordinary Shares in the event that acquisition opportunities fail to be identified and/or materialise and cash resources become considerably in excess of its requirements.

To cancel the Share Premium Account the Shareholders in general meeting must pass the special resolution set out in the Notice of General Meeting on pages 7 and 8.

If the special resolution to cancel the Share Premium Account is passed by the Shareholders of the Company, the Company will seek the confirmation of the Court in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 1985. The Court will only confirm the cancellation if it is satisfied that this will not prejudice the interests of the creditors of the company in question. The precise form of protection is a matter for the Court, however, the Company will provide such protection as the Court requires and the Company's advisors recommend as appropriate.

Provided the Court confirms the cancellation of the Share Premium Account the Company must then arrange for the delivery of the relevant court order to Companies House for registration by the Registrar of Companies. The cancellation will take effect only upon registration of the court order by the Registrar of Companies.

Share Buyback

In the event that acquisition opportunities fail to be identified and/or materialise and cash resources become considerably in excess of requirements, the Board believes that the buyback of Ordinary Shares by the Company would be an effective way of maintaining an efficient capital structure and would maximise shareholder value by increasing earnings per Ordinary Share. Accordingly the Board is proposing that the Company be authorised to make market purchases of Ordinary Shares. The authority would permit a maximum of 30% of the Company's issued share capital to be purchased, representing 8,154,972 Ordinary Shares. The minimum and maximum prices at which the Ordinary Shares could be purchased would be 20 pence and 5% above the average of the middle market quotations for the Ordinary Shares as derived from the AIM Appendix to the Daily Official List of the London Stock Exchange plc for the 10 business days immediately preceding the date on which the contract to purchase the Ordinary Shares is made. The authority would expire 18 months following the date of the General Meeting. The Ordinary Shares purchased would be cancelled and the number of Ordinary Shares in issue reduced accordingly, or, subject to the Companies (Acquisition of Own Shares) (Treasury Shares) Regulations 2003, retained as treasury shares. These regulations enable companies to hold repurchased shares which equate to up to 10% of the company's issued share capital as treasury shares with a view to possible re-sale at a future date (rather than having to cancel them). Currently the Company has 644,583 treasury shares (representing 2.37% of the Company's issued share capital).

The Board are aware of their obligations under the Takeover Code.

Adoption of New Articles of Association

Since the Company's Existing Articles of Association were last amended in February 2000, company law and practice has changed significantly, including the passing of the Companies Act 2006. As a result, the Existing Articles of Association are now out of date in a number of areas. The Board proposes therefore to update the Company's Existing Articles of Association. For simplicity this will be achieved by adopting New Articles of Association which are modelled on the Existing Articles of Association. A summary of the principal changes to be introduced by the adoption of the New Articles of Association is set out on pages 5 and 6 of this document. Copies of the Existing Articles of Association and the New Articles of Association will be available for inspection on Business Days during normal business hours at the registered office of the Company from the date of the notice of General Meeting set out on pages 7 to 8 (inclusive) up to the time of the General Meeting (and will also be available for inspection at the General Meeting).

General Meeting

A General Meeting has been convened for 11.00 am on 24 June 2008 at 133 Ebury Street, London, SW1W 9QU. The Notice of General Meeting is set out on pages 7 to 8 (inclusive).

Action to be Taken

You will find enclosed a form of proxy for use at the General Meeting.

Whether or not you intend to be present at the General Meeting, you are requested to complete and return the form of proxy in accordance with the instructions printed thereon so that it arrives at the Company's registrars, Capita Registrars, as soon as possible but in any event not later than 48 hours prior to the General Meeting.

Recommendation

The Board considers that the Proposals are in the best interests of the Company as a whole and are most likely to promote the success of the Company for the benefit of its Shareholders as a whole. The Board unanimously recommend you vote in favour of the Resolutions as the Directors of the Company intend to do so in respect of their own aggregate holdings of 1,759,000 Ordinary Shares, representing approximately 6.63% of the total voting rights of the Company.

Yours faithfully

Jonathan Mervis
Chairman

Summary of the principal changes to the Company's articles of association

Existing Articles of Association

Various references in the Existing Articles of Association (for instance to certain pieces of legislation) are now out of date.

The Existing Articles of Association include references to "extraordinary general meetings" and "extraordinary resolutions" and also provide that the notice period for general meetings at which a special resolution is to be proposed is 21 clear days.

The Existing Articles of Association provide that any two persons entitled to vote on the business to be transacted shall be quorum for a general meeting of the Shareholders.

The Existing Articles of Association seek to exclude Shareholders (other than corporations) who are present at a general meeting of the Shareholders by proxy, from voting on a show of hands (such proxies only being entitled to vote on a poll).

The Existing Articles enable Shareholders to give notice of the revocation of the proxy, transfer of the Shares to which it relates or the death or mental disorder of the principal up to an hour before the relevant general meeting.

The Existing Articles of Association give the chairman of a general meeting of the Shareholders a casting vote in the case of an equality of votes.

The Existing Articles of Association do not authorise the use of electronic communications with Shareholders.

The Existing Articles of Association provide that every Director is to retire at the first annual general meeting following his 70th birthday (but can be eligible for re-appointment to office for subsequent 1 year terms).

The Existing Articles of Association provide that directors' service contracts of 5 years or more must be approved by the Shareholders in general meeting.

New Articles of Association

The references in the New Articles of Association have been brought up to date. In particular amendments have been made to ensure the New Articles of Association are inline with the Companies Act 2006. Certain examples of such provisions, including provisions as to convening and notice of general meetings and proxies are detailed below.

(So as to take advantage of the provisions of the Companies Act 2006) the New Articles of Association do not use the term "extraordinary" and provide that the notice period for all general meetings (other than annual general meetings) is 14 clear days.

The New Articles of Association retain the principle that a quorum for a general meeting will be two, but in line with the Companies Act 2006 make it clear that there will be no double counting for "qualifying persons" who are representatives of the same corporation or proxies of the same Shareholder.

The New Articles of Association provide that all Shareholders who are present at a general meeting by proxy can vote on a show of hands.

The New Articles of Association provide that such notice must be received at least 48 hours before such meeting (or adjourned meeting or the taking of the poll at which the proxy is to be used).

The New Articles of Association expressly state that the chairman of a general meeting shall not be entitled to a casting vote in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act 2006.

The New Articles of Association include provision for the use of electronic communications in prescribed circumstances.

In accordance with the Companies Act 2006 which does not contain an upper age limit for directors, this provision has been removed from the New Articles of Association.

In accordance with the Companies Act 2006 the New Articles of Association contain a provision that shareholder approval is required for directors' service contracts of more than 2 years.

Existing Articles of Association

The Existing Articles of Association do not provide for the payment of Scrip Dividends.

The indemnity provision in the Existing Articles of Association covers “every Director, Auditor, Secretary or other officer”.

New Articles of Association

The New Articles of Association include provision for the payment of Scrip Dividends.

The indemnity provision in the New Articles of Association has been extended to cover directors of the Company in their capacity as directors of a corporate trustee of any occupational pension scheme operated by the Company.

If no voting indication is given, your proxy will vote or abstain from voting at his or her discretion. Your proxy will vote (or abstain from voting) as he or she thinks fit in relation to any other matter which is put before the General Meeting.

In the case of a member which is a company, the revocation notice must be executed under its common seal or signed on its behalf by an officer of the company or an attorney for the company. The revocation notice must be received by the Company Secretary at 133 Ebury Street, London, SW1W 9QU no later than one hour prior to the General Meeting.

If you attempt to revoke your proxy appointment but the revocation is received after the time specified then, subject to the paragraph directly below, your proxy appointment will remain valid.
